BELT TYPES :

CASUAL BELTS : Typically 1.5" wide or more, often in brown or varied colors, suitable for jeans and casual clothing.

PROFILE BELTS : These belts typically refers to a refined, often formal, designed with distinct edges, smooth finishes, and a tailored shape to create a "profile" or silhouette that enhances formal attire. These belts feature hand-cut contours, polished edges, and a thinner width (often around 1.125 to 1.5 inches), designed for a sleek, professional look.

REVERSIBLE BELTS : Feature a swivel buckle to switch between colors, usually black and brown.

DRESS BELTS : Typically 1"-1.25" wide, sleek, and high-shine to match formal attire (e.g., black or cordovan).

HAND CARVED BELTS : Meticulously crafted with hand tooling, carving and hand finishing using premium leather.

WESTERN BELTS : These belts mostly comes with a strong single-prong, eye-catching engraved designer buckle that is perfect for creating stylish vintage decoration for your daily outfit. Generally made from thick materials like buffalo leather for heavy-duty use.

POLO BELTS : A leather polo belt is a stylish accessory designed for equestrian and casual wear. Crafted from quality leather, it usually features vibrant and contrasting colors in horizontal or diagonal patterns. The belts often showcase fine craftsmanship, with details like hand-stitched borders and a sturdy buckle.

DESIGNER BELTS : Typically crafted from premium leather, these belts exhibit exquisite craftsmanship and attention to detail. The design may include distinctive features such as elegant buckles or unique patterns. The overall aesthetic reflects the designer's signature style, offering a blend of luxury, functionality, and fashion-forward elements.

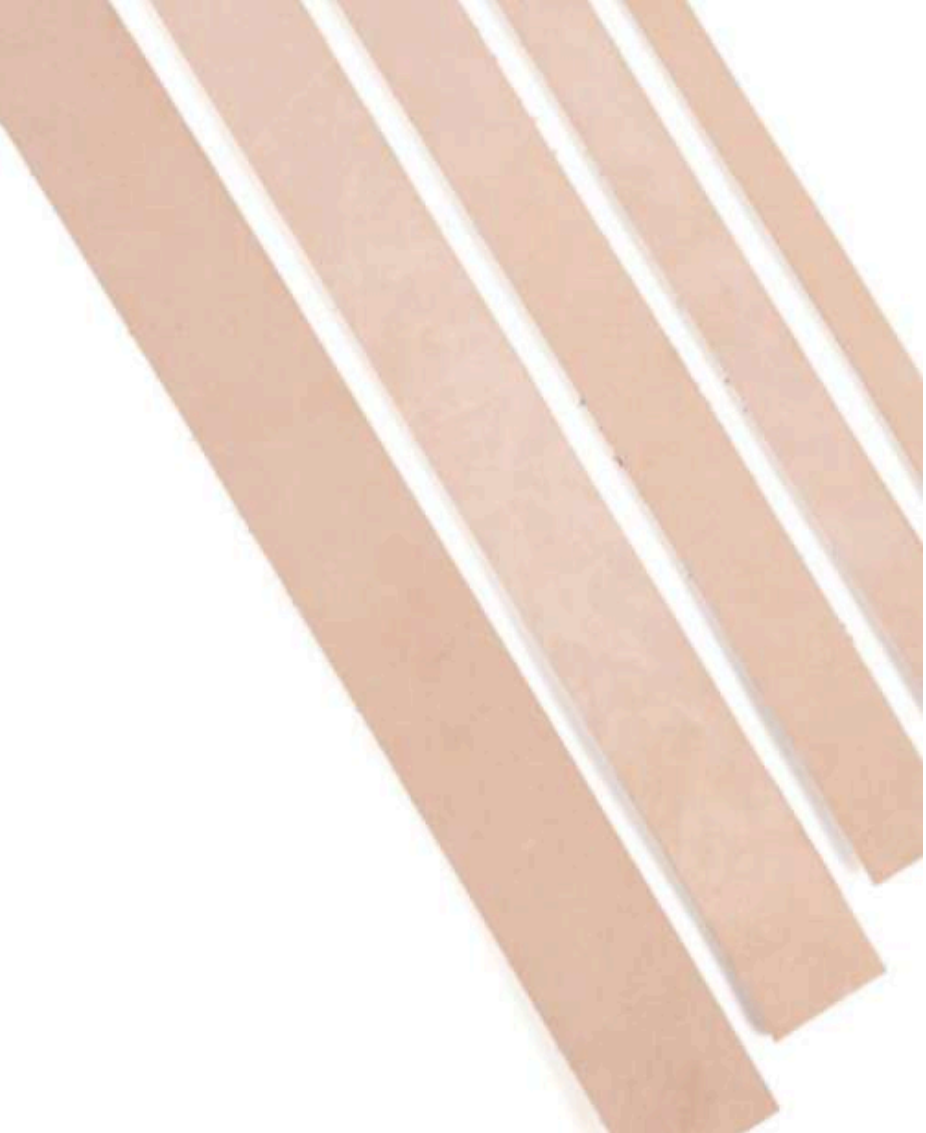

BRAIDED BELTS : Casual and textured, offering flexibility and an informal aesthetic.

EMBROIDERY BELT : A leather embroidery belt is a distinctive accessory adorned with intricate stitched designs.
